Adobe® Central Output Server

ProTechnology has been helping Adobe Central users for over 10 years. From Jetform to Accelio and now to Adobe, ProTechnology has worked to ensure a smooth transition for users looking to upgrade or improve their systems.

JetTrac™ Output Director

This central enhancement allows you to send your document output to multiple locations including Printers, Fax, Email, the Web, and Archiving.

Development Support Plans

ProTechnology offers a full range of support through their Develop Support Plans. A prepaid set of hours, plan members can use their support plans for:

- Installation-Plan members have access to our trained service representatives for on site or remote installation of their products.
- Development-Plan members can use their hours to alter any aspect of their existing system when the need arises.
- Troubleshooting-When problems arise, our experienced staff can help resolve situations quickly and smoothly

Training

ProTechnology provides training on Adobe Central Output Server, Adobe Central Output Server Pro, and Adobe Output Designer. Users will benefit from our small classes and hands on learning to gain the knowledge that will allow them to enhance their Adobe Central from within their own companies.

Two different types of training are offered:

- Regular Public Training-For smaller companies who would like to send three people or less, public training offers an affordable way for small businesses to train their support staff. Trainees also have the option of choosing an additional Development Support Lab for one-on-one assistance with their projects. Four day training classes are offered year round in Los Angeles, Atlanta, and New Jersey.
- Onsite Training-For companies looking to train a larger number of people, ProTechnology offers full onsite training. Onsite users have the option of customizing training to meeting their needs and requirements.

Adobe Central Enhancements

Our JetTrac™ line of over products and plug-ins provides over 100 options to help Adobe Central fit your needs.
